

Wolf Run Landscapes and Nursery Celebrates 25th Anniversary

Wolf Run Landscapes, specializing in landscape design and installation, using mostly native plants in the landscape to help stabilize the loss of our biodiversity and sustain green naturalized areas, is celebrating their 25th anniversary in 2020. Services provided include tree health care, proper pruning and removal of trees and shrubs; natural lawn care services from new to renovation; hardscapes - natural stone walls and walks, gravel paths, paver patios and walks; as well as water gardens and ponds. Their focus is the enhancement of nature's definitive spaces — creating a refreshing, bold look for their clients!

The company began as Wolf Run Nursery, quite by accident. Owner/president Mark Priebe was always interested in plants and trees, not mowing grass. In 1995, the idea of a nursery was born. Plants were ordered, plans were made followed by a lot of hard work. Wolf Run Nursery was named because of Mark's wife Karen's love of wolves. The nursery has grown in clientele which has brought about public awareness through the interesting and unique land art that Mark Priebe has created. Mark has taken on many jobs, not to mention his volunteer time to Master Gardeners, the Reading Public Museum rock garden and Hawk Mountain.

Wolf Run Nursery continues to grow. The hardscape installation department now includes natural pavers and blocks, along with natural stone products. Tree care was improved with proper pruning done by certified arborists along with tree removals. The New American Garden movement has been embraced, with the help of garden designer Paul VanMeter of local fame. The movement entails less lawn, large sweeps of grasses and perennials along with trees and shrubbery. This gives way to help with all types of biodiversity, which is a healthy plus for all of us! Marketing specialist and speaker Karin Wulkowicz has added more pizzazz too!

Landscape design is now aided with the newest landscape software. Wolf Run will continue to advocate less lawn and more plants in the landscape garden. At a time when we face tree and plant numbers decreasing along with animals and insects in our natural world, we must help by naturalizing our own landscapes and gardens, for this will be the last stand. The time for action is now!
