

DeWalt BREWING COMPANY Moving to Atlantic City

FAMILY OWNED AND OPERATED

Christopher DeWalt started the DeWalt Brewing Company in Reading as a way to share his passion and create a business that could provide opportunities for his family and community. After working many years in the construction and Telecommunication industries, he decided to create a business to achieve these goals. The DeWalt Brewing Company is built on the foundation of faith, and Christopher's chief belief is that all things can be achieved through faith.

Recently CEO Christopher DeWalt made the decision to relocate DeWalt Brewing Company to Atlantic City, N.J. after the state awarded the brewery about $1 million in tax credits over the next decade.

DeWalt Brewing Company will open its Atlantic City headquarters next door to the Little Water Distillery in the Northeast Inlet.

"We're excited about the prospect of being part of the turnaround of Atlantic City," DeWalt said, thanking city officials, the Atlantic County Improvement Authority and the Greater Atlantic City Chamber of Commerce.

The brewery plans a grand opening in July, but the craft beer could arrive to the city sooner, possibly June, DeWalt has said. He plans to bring 15 employees to the city by the end of the first year, and employ 85 to 100 workers after a decade.

DeWalt's move was contingent on receiving state tax credits the company applied for. The New Jersey Economic Development Authority board approved Grow NJ tax credits of up to $108,795 annually over 10 years on March 16.

HAND-CRAFTED MICRO BREWS DESIGNED FOR TASTE, SMOOTHNESS, AND QUALITY

The brewery currently has three beers — a German-style lager, an India pale ale and a mixed berry apple cider, according to its website. DeWalt, 50, plans to reveal three more recipes when it moves to the city.

Each beer recipe uses only the finest hops, wheat, barley, and other ingredients to combine for a fine tasting brew. The smoothness of each taste is unsurpassed and sure to leave you lingering for more.

Did you meet Mixed Berry Hard Apple Cider? After a long day, you deserve the best! Pop open a DeWalt Brewing Company's® Mixed Berry Hard Apple Cider.
