A Year to Remember in King of Prussia

New Retailers, Restaurants and Events Keep KOP Energetic

With over $1B in economic development activity currently underway, a smoldering hot restaurant scene and thousands of new apartments, King of Prussia continued to thrive in 2017. Add to that a series of successful and engaging events presented by King of Prussia District (KOP-BID) and its partners, and you have a year to remember! Here's a round-up of KOP-BID's big events from 2017, and a taste of what's to come in 2018:

King of Prussia Beerfest Royale

The King of Prussia Mall parking lot was transformed into a beer lover's paradise as KOP-BID welcomed 3,200 attendees on October 5 and 7, 2017 for the 6th annual King of Prussia Beerfest Royale. Fifty-one brewers served up 100 beers, while the tunes of Philadelphia favorites Swift Technique and Nik Greeley and the Operators drifted through the air. King of Prussia's best and newest restaurants wowed the crowd with delicious treats throughout all sessions. Beerfest Royale is King of Prussia District's only fundraiser of the year, and all proceeds are used for physical improvement projects throughout KOP - like landscaped medians, signage and linear parks!

Trends Speaker Panel

On September 7, KOP-BID welcomed a sell out crowd of 180 business professionals for thought-provoking conversation, networking, and breakfast at the DoubleTree by Hilton Valley Forge. Attendees heard from a panel of industry experts including Leslie Richards, PA Secretary of Transportation; Jerry Sweeney, President and CEO of Brandywine Realty Trust; Dan Simons, Owner of Founding Farmers; Adam Sacks, President of Tourism Economics; and Peter Sikora, Development Manager of Bozzuto Development Company. Moderated by Stephen Mullin, President and Principal of Econsult Solutions, Inc, each expert shared insights into the state of their industries and offered perspectives about how trends might shape the future of suburban locations like King of Prussia.

Rock Your Lunch

KOP-BID's popular lunchtime summer concert series returned to the front lawn at Arkema in King of Prussia's business park for another rocking year. Each Thursday in June, employees and residents enjoyed free music, samples from some of King of Prussia's best restaurants, food trucks and yard games.

dineKOP

KOP-BID's popular dineKOP restaurant week returned March 6-12, 2017 for its most successful year to date. With 23 participating restaurants and thousands of customers taking part in the discounted lunch and dinner menus, dineKOP 2017 generated incredible media coverage and revenue for each restaurant. In its three years, dineKOP has raised $37,000 for The Children's Hospital of Philadelphia's KOP Specialty Care Center.

FIRST TO MARKET:

Retailers and Restaurants

Recognized around the world as one of the leading retail and dining destinations in the U.S., King of Prussia shows no signs of slowing down. With the recent expansion of the King of Prussia Town Center, more than 100 new retailers and restaurants joined KOP in the past two years, with more coming soon in 2018. Many of the openings were the first to open in the U.S. or the East Coast, and some represented the first brick-and-mortar stores for traditionally online retailers.
